Who's Considered "Family?"

Travel Insurance by Allianz Global Assistance provides travelers with greater coverage by recognizing more people as "family members" than any other company in the industry.

This graphic shows all of the individuals Allianz Global Assistance considers "family members," which means any of them could trigger a covered reason. For instance, if your nanny gets sick and can't care for your children while you're away, and one of your plan's covered reasons is "illness of a family member," you could cancel or interrupt your trip and be covered.

The Certificate of Insurance/Policy includes a full list of covered reasons.
